SETUPS · SUGGESTED ORDER, NOT SCRIPT ORDER

	SETUP	A CAMERA	B CAMERA	C CAMERA	COVERS	WATCH
1	COLD OPEN Cristian on the coffee table, Nyla working on him	A Extreme CU, his mouth. The two-teeth gap. Then drift to his eyes.	B Over Nyla's shoulder onto the wound. Rag, bowl, pink water.	C Wide, takes in Cathy at the boards with her back to them.	Open through "Shh" and the door bang.	Shoot first. Cristian is bandaged for everything after this.
2	THE BURST-IN Dean through the door, chaos, into the chair	A Wide master, whole room, door to chair.	B Dean, handheld, follows him down into the chair.	C Hands working the rope. Chest wrap, then behind.	Entrance through "You have to kill me."	Rig the slip side now and leave it. Do not retie between takes.
3	THE VOLUNTEER The whole dialogue block. The heart of it.	A Master wide, all five, locked.	B Terry, medium into CU. Operated.	C Dean in the chair, CU.	"Okay. I'll do it." through "Because I actually hate him."	Josh is in this. Somebody else watches playback.
4	THE VOLUNTEER, REVERSE Same scene, cameras turned around	A Master, held.	B Nyla and Cathy, two-shot, reactions.	C Cristian alone, reactions.	Same block again, plus the logic argument.	Run the whole block again. There is no dialogue to cut to without this.
5	THE APPROACH Knife business, the cross, no hesitation	A Wide, Terry crossing the room.	B Terry tight. Calm face, working hands.	C Dean, low, as Terry gets to a foot away.	Knife out and wiped, through "Is this weird?"	Rubber knife only. Hero blade is a separate insert.
6	THE SPIRAL Dean's last words, checking whether anyone stops him	A Dean, tight, the whole run.	B The room, nobody getting up.	C Terry waiting. The eye roll.	"Oh my God" through the throat rattle.	Let him run long. Trim in the edit, not on the day.
7	THE REVEAL The arm comes loose. Most important coverage in the piece.	A Two-shot, Terry and Dean, tight.	B Terry's face only. The moment he clocks it.	C The room, for Nyla's "Oh my God."	Arm loose through "You were really gonna let me do it."	The arm and teeth are inserts. Shoot them nowhere near a neck.

8	THE BLOWUP Everyone turns on everyone. Nobody is the hero.	A Wide, all five, overlapping.	B Terry, vindicated.	C Dean, still tied, one arm free, arguing.	"I KNEW IT" through Cristian's teeth line.	Roll long, let it get messy. Then the empty-room tag.

INSERTS · SHOOT CLEAN, AWAY FROM THE SCENE

- The bite, clean. Dean's forearm, lit, before anything smears it.
- The smear. Same arm after it drags. Wrong, too much, wipeable.
- The teeth aligning. Arm lifted to his own mouth, marks sitting into the gaps. Shoot it twice.
- Hero knife. The painted blade catching light. Nowhere near a person.
- The rope. Wrap and tie-off, and the slip releasing on cue.
- Pink water. Rag going into the bowl.
- Boarded window. Light through the slats, and something passing outside.
- Empty chair with the rope over it. For the tag and the deck.

CONTINUITY · THE THREE THAT WILL BITE YOU

- The bite has to smear on cue. Wipeable makeup only. It is clean for setups 2 through 6 and smeared from 7 on. Reset it between passes and get the clean insert before anyone touches the arm.
- Cristian is bandaged after setup 1. Shoot the cold open first or the dressing appears out of nowhere.
- Dean's sleeve. Rollable or short. If the forearm is not readable the reveal does not exist.

WHY THIS ORDER

- Cold open first, because it changes Cristian's look for the rest of the day.
- The two big dialogue setups next, while everyone is fresh. That is where the sketch lives.
- Physical beats after, once performances are set.
- Inserts last, when the room is quiet and you can take your time.
